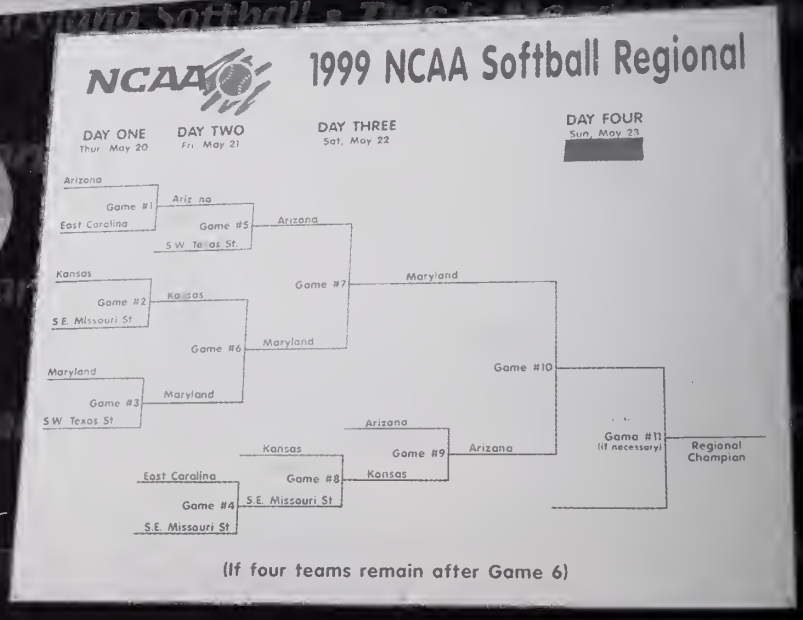
Sights from the 1999 NCAA Regionals

The Terrapins made their first-ever appearance in the NCAA Tournament in 1999, coming within one victory of the NCAA Women's College Softball World Series.



Jennifer Potzman (left) and Cortney Madea were among seven Terps singled out for postseason honors last season.

The 1999 Terrapins authored the most prolific offensive campaign in Maryland softball history last spring, setting team marks for at-bats, hits, runs scored, doubles, home runs, runs batted in and walks.

In 1999, Kelly Shipman was named All-America third team, Mid-Atlantic first team, NCAA Tournament All-Region 2, All-ACC, All-ACC Tournament and ACC Player of the Year.

2000 Season Preview

The Terrapins in 2000

A young, talented, optimistic Terrapin softball squad is ready to embark upon the first season of the decade. A year ago, a team of seasoned veterans and head coach Gina LaMandre authored the most prolific season in the team's five-year history. Now the coach looks to build upon the valuable experience that last season's success offered her young group, while new faces fill the positions left behind by graduated seniors.

Maryland finished 1999 ranked No. 12 in the nation, marking the Terps' first-ever season top 25 selection. The team posted a 51-23 record en route to Maryland's first NCAA Tournament appearance and a run that came within one victory of the NCAA World Series. Although the squad lost three starters to graduation, the Terrapins begin the 2000 season with 13 experienced players, including three talented hurlers and a cast of seasoned batsmen.

Now Pitching for the Terrapins

Much of the Terps' success this season will be contingent on the pitching performances of sophomores Amanda Bettker and Danielle Carpenter. The young tandem combined for 19 wins in 1999, and is expected to assume the reigns left behind by All-American Kelly Shipman.

Bettker and Carpenter performed masterfully a season ago. Bettker has already broken into the Maryland career record book, listed in the top five in wins, innings pitched, strikeouts, shutouts, complete games and appearances. Carpenter, a southpaw, has also made her mark, starting the season ranked sixth in career strikeouts.

Junior Jen Shellhammer begins her "rookie" season with the Terrapins in 2000. LaMandre is looking for Shellhammer, a transfer from Radford University, to add depth and maturity to the Maryland pitching staff.

Behind the Plate

As in 1999, Terrapin catching duties will be the shared responsibility of senior Sarah Putnam and sophomore Beth Radford. The Terp backstops both enjoy mighty throwing arms and powerful bats, providing Maryland with quality depth behind the plate.

Putnam, one of two seniors on Maryland's 2000 squad, led the team in fielding percentage (.997) in 1999 while batting .269.

Radford batted .289 and knocked in 38 runs last season, setting the Maryland single-season RBI record during her rookie campaign. The sophomore has already broken into the career-leader lists in RBI and sacrifice flies after only one season as a Terp. Radford also plays third base when not donning the catcher's gear.

Around the Horn

Powering Maryland this spring will be first baseman Kiesha Pickeral, who set the standard for the Terps in 1999 with a .316 batting average and a .447 slugging percentage. Pickeral's 68 hits in '99 notched a single-season

Junior Jennifer Potzman returns to her familiar position at shortstop this season.

Terrapin record, and her 15 doubles also led the team. The sophomore, who was tabbed first team All-ACC and second team NFCA Mid-Atlantic All-Region, is also skilled with the glove. Pickeral posted a .987 fielding percentage in 1999.

With the graduation of infielder Amy Sandler, LaMandre is looking for players to step up and assume the second base position. Freshman Jillian Callaway has shown promise, exhibiting an excellent bat and the ability to cover ground.

Junior shortstop Jennifer Potzman returns to her familiar position up the middle. Potzman put forth an impressive .298 batting display in 1999 while scoring a school-record 49 runs and driving in 37. The infielder led the team in on-base percentage (.428) and now occupies top-five positions among Maryland's career batting average, runs, hits, doubles, home runs, RBI, walks and sacrifice flies leaders. A 1999 All-ACC and NFCA Mid-Atlantic Region first team selection, Potzman brings much needed leadership to a young infield.

Several Terrapins will likely see time at third base, including sophomore Beth Radford, junior Janet Richmond, and newcomers Mandy Allendorfer and Stefanie Robinson.

Kiesha Pickeral is a solid performer at first base.

In the Outfield

A host of Terrapins will roam the outfield this spring, led by junior Michelle Burrell. Burrell, who returns as the starting center fielder, batted .263 and was third on the team in RBI in 1999, driving in 36 runs. The junior is also a defensive stalwart, exhibited by her .957 fielding percentage last season.

Senior designated player/outfielder Cortney Madea returns to make an impact, mainly at the plate. Madea ranks among the Maryland career batting leaders in 12 different categories. The junior was third on the team in home runs (6) and tied for fifth in RBI (33) a season ago.

Sophomore Holly Baldwin, who batted .333 in limited time last season, displayed a hot bat in the fall and could be an emerging offensive presence come springtime. Juniors Brooke Maslo and Annmarie Browne will also see time in LaMandre's outfield in 2000. Browne smacked three home runs in '99.

Freshman Samantha Sweeney has already turned some heads, displaying incredible speed both on the basepaths and in the outfield.

The Schedule

The young Terrapins face a tough schedule, especially early, as the season opens against UCLA and Tennessee at South Florida's Louisville Slugger Tournament. The Terps will also face formidable opponents as they participate in five more invitational tournaments throughout the season. Besides hosting the second-ever Terrapin Invitational, Maryland will travel to the Triangle Classic, the Speedline Invitational, Lady Seminole Invitational and the Buzz Classic.

Gina LaMandre

Sixth season at Maryland
Trenton State '86

When head coach Gina LaMandre was hired in 1995 to construct Maryland softball "from the ground up," it was her intent to build a first-class program. Faced with this task, coaches find that it can take many years to achieve success and a place on the map of the sports world. Some coaches say it could take 10 years. Others say 20. For LaMandre and the Terrapins, it took five.

In only the fifth season of the team's existence, head coach Gina LaMandre guided the Maryland softball squad to 51 wins, garnering the school's first invitation to the NCAA Tournament and riding the wave of success all the way to the Region 2 final game. LaMandre's effort was rewarded as she was named ACC Coach of the Year for the first time in her career. LaMandre and assistant coach Rachel Lawson were tabbed NFCA Mid-Atlantic Coaching Staff of the Year, marking the third time LaMandre was honored with that distinction.

LaMandre's Terrapins experienced the most prolific year in team history a season ago. In addition to the team's first NCAA Tournament appearance, Maryland finished the season ranked No. 12 in the nation. This ranking was the team's first top 25 citation in the program's short history. The Terrapins set a number of team records in 1999, including victories (51), at-bats (1,940), hits (507), runs (316), doubles (88), home runs (39), RBI (277) and walks (205). Seven different Terps were singled out for postseason honors last season.

The 1998 squad finished 28-22, posting the second highest winning percentage in program history (.560). Strides were made in conference play as well, as the Terrapins were also able to post a 4-4 record against ACC opponents.

In 1997, the Terrapins took perhaps one of their biggest steps toward becoming a recognizable program. The Terps, in only their third year of existence, captured a share of the 1997 Atlantic Coast Conference championship with defending champion Florida State. Maryland finished the regular season at 26-23, and used a 3-1 ACC Tournament mark to claim a share of the title. LaMandre was rewarded by her peers, for the second straight season, being named NFCA Coach of the Year for the Mid-Atlantic Region.

When LaMandre began her assault on constructing the Maryland program, she was handed a roster that included 16 underclassmen, and no aid of athletic scholarships. Despite the shortcomings, Maryland finished its inaugural Division I campaign with a 15-33 record.

The second season under LaMandre was even more promising. The Terrapins improved from their modest beginnings to a 33-24-1 mark in 1996. The Maryland pitching staff combined for a national-best 0.82 ERA, with then-freshman Kelly Shipman posting the second-best ERA in the nation (0.51). The efforts paid off in the end with LaMandre garnering NFCA Coach of the Year accolades, and Shipman earning ACC Rookie of the Year honors.

Bigger steps followed with the ACC Tournament run in 1997, followed by a third straight winning season in 1998.

Prior to her arrival in College Park, LaMandre was an assistant coach at Massachusetts for eight seasons. Her primary responsibilities included developing the pitching staff and recruiting of student-athletes.

LaMandre's involvement in softball dates to her playing days at Trenton State College (now the College of New Jersey) where she was a two-time All-American in 1984 and 1985, and was named Trenton State's Female Athlete of the Year in 1985. She served her alma mater as pitching coach and strength and conditioning coach for one year before taking a job as an assistant coach at Massachusetts.

LaMandre is a member of the National Fastpitch Coaches Association, the National Strength and Conditioning Association and the American College of Sports Medicine.

Did You Know?

Maryland's softball coaches, Gina LaMandre and Rachel Lawson, have been working together on the field since 1991. Lawson played collegiate softball at Massachusetts from 1991 to 1994, where LaMandre was an assistant coach. The pair made a trip the NCAA World Series with the Minutewomen in 1992. Last season, the coaching tandem came within one game of the College World Series with the Terrapins.

2000 Maryland Softball Coaching Staff

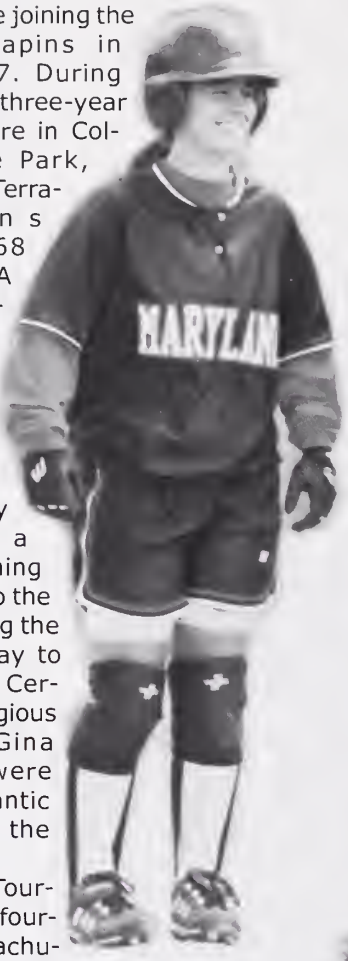
Rachel Lawson

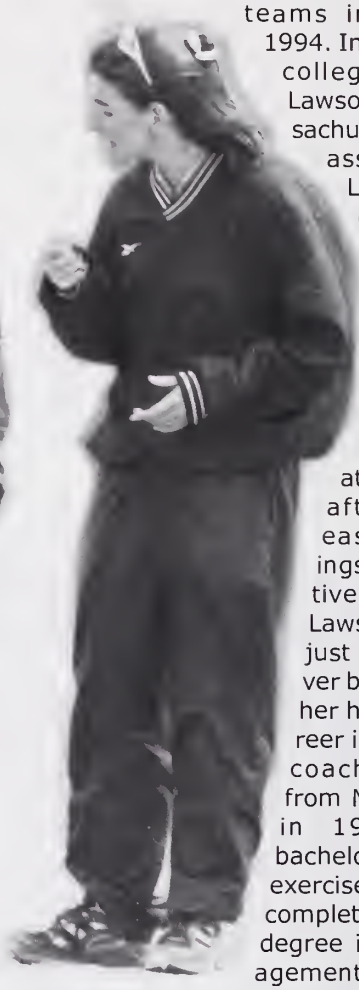
Fourth season at Maryland
Massachusetts '94

Assistant coach Rachel Lawson has made quite an impact on Maryland softball since joining the Terrapins in 1997. During her three-year tenure in College Park, the Terrapins have boasted a 105-68 record, one ACC and SASA regular-season championship, one shared ACC championship, a trip to the NCAA Tournament, and the first top 25 ranking in Maryland school history.

The 1999 Maryland softball team received many accolades after posting a school-record 51 wins, earning the school's first invitation to the NCAA Tournament and riding the wave of success all the way to the Region 2 final game. Certainly one of the most prestigious awards came when Gina LaMandre and Lawson were named the NFCA Mid-Atlantic Region Coaching Staff of the Year.

No stranger to NCAA Tournament play, Lawson was a four-year letterwinner at Massachusetts, leading the Minutewomen to a 1992 third-place finish at the College World Series and a pair of NCAA regional appearances. A two-time Atlantic-10 all-conference selection at first base, Lawson was additionally named to the Atlantic-10 all-tournament teams in 1992 and 1994. In her four-year collegiate career, Lawson helped Massachusetts and then assistant coach LaMandre claim four consecutive regular season Atlantic-10 championships and three tournament titles.





Lawson attended UMass after moving east from Billings, Mont. A native of Colorado, Lawson was raised just south of Denver before finishing her high school career in Billings. The coach graduated from Massachusetts in 1994 with a bachelor's degree in exercise science. She completed a master's degree in sport management at UMass in 1997.

University of Maryland

Leading the Way into the 21st Century

- A Carnegie Research-I University
- Member, Association of American Universities
- Flagship of the University System of Maryland
- Division I NCAA Athletics

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Ten years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.

President C.D. Mote

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining a 10 percent appropriations increase in his first year.

When the legislature had finished its work for the year, Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley. He arrived in College Park determined to continue the same level of achievement in his new post.

After earning his doctorate in engineering mechanics from Berkeley in 1963, Mote spent a year as a research fellow at the University of Birmingham in England, then three years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh before returning to Berkeley in 1967.

There he stayed for more than 30 years before coming to Maryland. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Maryland Terrapins

Among the Nation's Best

This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record five consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1998-99, as they posted their second consecutive Top 25 finish in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 to the No. 19 spot in 1997-98 was the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Competition

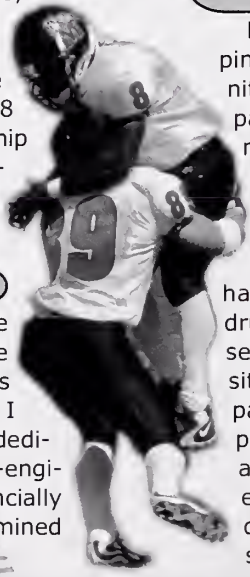
Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.



Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Yow to assume presidency of NACDA in July 2000

Dr. Deborah A. Yow has led Terrapin athletics to balanced budgets, high levels of productivity and achievement and a vigorous commitment to excellence throughout its operations. She is in her sixth year as Maryland's director of athletics.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all five of the more than $25 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years).

- Improved graduation rates for student-athletes, above that of the general student population, in three of those five years.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 10 percent of all NCAA Division I schools.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 85% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer service in every area.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past five years, Debbie Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles.

Dr. Yow is a member of the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee. In addition, she will become president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000, and was recently singled out by Street & Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management, and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Academic Support

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletics program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit, headed by assistant athletic director Demetrius Marlowe, is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that enhance the academic progress, facilitate the career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of every student-athlete.

MAPS Directory

This directory, the Maryland Athletes Placement Source, is produced annually by the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin their professional careers.

Distributed to more than 1,000 corporations and businesses around the region, prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resumé information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Career Information Fairs

Career Awareness in Academic Support is expanding to include a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the semester. Career awareness is an ongoing process and includes assistance with resume writing and interview skills. The end of the semester brings a career awareness fair which hosts a number of professionals with whom student-athletes can learn about career interests and planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen area of interest.

Team Maryland

Team Maryland is a class taught in conjunction with the campus' James McGregor Burns Academy of Leadership in which student-athletes are exposed to leadership and public speaking skills and techniques. The program consists of a group of volunteer student-athletes who learn about the challenges for children in the community by speaking to different elementary schools about drug abuse and the importance of education. In addition to school visits, Team Maryland has hosted visits from local schools to our campus.

Strength & Conditioning

Collegiate softball has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Corliss White that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the softball team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for softball is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. White makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in softball goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the softball team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.
